

Entering the O-Zone

► OGILVY HORSE

This Canadian company has created The O-Zone blanket system, which protects a horse much like the ozone layer protects the Earth's climate. The blanket is designed to allow evaporation to escape easily while creating a barrier to keep water drops out, provided through an elaborate layering and unique choice of specially treated textiles.

www.ogilvyhorse.com

Seen at Night

► EQUIBRAND – CLASSIC EQUINE

The primary function of a horse blanket is to keep an animal warm and dry, but Classic Equine has taken the goal a step further to include safety. The newest lines, including the 20K Crosstrainer, include a reflective stripe down the side.

www.equibrand.com

Three Blankets in One

► KENSINGTON PROTECTIVE PRODUCTS

The Kensington 4-All Seasons Blanket System includes a protective sheet, a rain sheet and a reversible quilted blanket. The protective sheet is fly and UV rated, the rain sheet features CoolPlus lining for maximum absorption and the blanket features one side of a 70-denier nylon liner and the other a 12-ounce, pre-shrunken poly cotton-liner.

www.kensingtonproducts.com

Warm in Wool

► ROYAL RIDERS

The wood dress sheet from Blue Ribbon Blankets spurns high-tech fabrics and instead uses elegant Melton wool to give it a cashmere feel. Perfect weight for all climates. Features removable belly strap and braided tail cord with hip ornament.

www.royalriders.com